FRIDAY, JANUARY 11, 1895.

We hope Senator Hill had a pleasant time at Mr. Cleveland's big dinner. He was in good company.—Atlanta Journal.

Secretary Carlisle is overwhelmed with applications for the 17 positions for income tax officers for Kentucky.

The bill to divide Kentucky into two Federal Court districts may fail though, a division in the Kentucky delegation.

One of the latest acts of Representative Paynter was to appoint S. H. McDonald, of Cynthia, a cadet at West Point, with Robert E. Kennell, alternate.

Judge Hager does nothing rashly. He is considering and consulting, and if he decides to go into the race for governor he will be among the leaders.—Ashland News.

The postoffice business, which is one of the best indexes to the business of the country, was much larger all over the country during the last quarter than for many previous ones.

Since the purchase of two horses from D. D. Guest at Princeton by President Cleveland a short time ago orders have been received from various parts of the country for seven double teams and five single horses.

It will probably require the issue of $150,000,000 of bonds this year to meet all the requirements of the Government. This is the sum which the pension bills call for. We are now borrowing money to pay pensions.—Louisville Post.

The Eastern bankers don't like Secretary John G. Carlisle because they can't dictate the policy of the Treasury department so long as he is at the head of it. They have about given up all hope of dictating and are now asking his removal, it is said.

The prospect for an early resumption of peaceable relations between China and Japan are not flattering.
The special envoy sent to Japan has had a farrow talk with the Mikado, and the latter refused to call of his dogs of war until Peking was occupied by Japanese troops.
Minster Denby believes the negotiations will prove fruitless.—Counter Journal.

During his speech in the House Saturday Representative Cockran, having been interrupted by a reference to the recent election, said he had his own opinion about the result of that election, and added:
"I do not think the Democratic party was in that canvass. There was something masquerading as the Democratic party, which the American people ground under heel."

The mills and factories of this country can produce double what we consume and the only hope of providing constant employment for labor is to reach the markets of the world. The labor of this country will find that just as soon as our manufactured products find a market abroad their condition will improve. American skill and invention enables us to successfully compete against the world. All this country needs is free access to the markets of the world, and we can only secure this by being more liberal in levying duties on foreign products.—Portsmouth Times.

Kentucky and the Democracy of the United States are proud of the record made by Hon. John G. Carlisle as Secretary of the Treasury.
No man in that position has ever been confronted with more complicated and trying conditions and no man has over proved himself a truer friend to the people. The temptations to cater to Wall street are made very strong by that occupation for a man in Mr. Carlisle's position, but he spurns them all.
Taking as he did a wrecked treasury with enormous demands factured upon it by Republican legislation, it is remarkable how he has done so well.

An Infamous Lie.

BLACK AS HELL ITSELF.

Sample of the Standers Published in Ohio.

The following is a specimen of the microrepresentations of Kentucky in which the Ohio newspapers revel. We reproduce it to show how our section is slandered.
"Persons who have never visited the mountain section of Kentucky can have no conception of the people who inhabit this region. The writer has been through the so-called "hill sections" of the Far West, he witnessed the stirring excitement and tragic events which marked the last stand of the old-style Western "killer" at Creed, Colo., where four years ago, there were gathered in one edifying cesspool of social corruption, way up in an almost inaccessible valley of the San Juan mountains, 250 miles southwest of Denver, and so remote from all forms of organized government, that the enforcement of any sort of order was absolutely impossible, the dots and dashes of the mad current of Western life—and not even in that motley crew of reckless and irresponsible men and women did he see such types of the human family as he encountered in a day's ride through the hilly and jagged country east of Jackson, Kentucky. Jackson is the terminus of the Lexington and Eastern Railroad.

It is a little short of 100 miles from Lexington, the very heart of the famed Blue Grass region, one of the most favored belts of the continent and the home of a cultured civilization, which indisputably has no superior in the new world.
Yet within the short distance of the very heart of the Blue Grass region is a section of country populated by a people who are as savage in instinct as those who roam the impenetrable wilds of Zululand and who seem more impervious to the softening influences of civilization than do the heathen Blacks of South Africa. Strong language, this, but it is not strong enough to characterize the people about whom it is written. The most of the people of Kentucky do not know what a citizenship exists in the mountain fastnesses to the east and south of Lexington. If they did undoubtedly there would be such a demand for the Governor to mobilize the State troops in the always disturbed district and shoot a hole in it as he could not disregard. Every other influence, except the destructive power of powder and lead, has been brought to bear upon it without the slightest appreciable effect. Schools and churches abound in abundance, but the one seems to sharpen the murderous instincts of those whom they are designated to civilize, while the others appear to have a tendency of intensifying the feudal spirit and lining to the despicable crime of assassination the justification of Scriptural authority. There is absolutely no glamour of romance around the people or their history. They have not in their make up even the saving grace of humor.
They are for the most part low-browed, stupid and sullen. Their crimes are not committed while these who commit them are under the influence of liquor. They drink all the whiskey they can get, but they perpetrate their bloody deeds after the liquor has died out of them."

A Glass House.

The decision of Judge Buchwalter, of Cincinnati, that he will not permit the extradition of Hamilton until he has satisfactorily assured from the Gov. of Kentucky that he will not be lynched, sounds very brave and virtuous, but really such assurance is carried in the very act of extradition itself. If lynching is not a part of the regular legal process of Kentucky, then there is all the assurance that any one could ask, not from the Governor, but from the Commonwealth; while if lynching were a part of the Kentucky code, the Constitution of the United States enforces Judge Buchwalter to honor it. At any rate, we wish to say that Ohio is not living in the sort of house which would justify our throwing stones of this kind.—The Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Proof of the Pudding

There never was a time within the memory of this generation when a man could clothe himself and family so well for so little money as now. What is the reason of this? It is simply one of the blessings brought by the Democratic tariff. It is one of the results of free wool.—Boston Post.

Our Persecutors.

No State was ever more outrageously treated by another than Kentucky by Ohio. The people of this State, and especially of the mountain section, have been the targets for the vilest slanders which many of the newspapers and certain classes of the Ohio people have been able to concoct. In substantiation of these charges we refer to the News columns of this issue and also remind our readers of the letter from the Sheriff of Athens county, Ohio, written to one of our attorneys, a copy of which was published three weeks ago. It will be recalled that this letter was in answer to a polite inquiry about the business responsibility of a citizen of Athens county and that the answer was a most slandering characterization of the Kentucky people. The letter written the Sheriff furnished absolutely no pretext for anything but a courteous reply. Read the clipping from the Cincinnati Enquirer published in another column. Could a blacker lie be written by Satan himself?

Then Judge Buchwalter, an Ohio model of righteousness, has refused to deliver to the Sheriff of Marion county, Ky., a negro fugitive, Hampton, upon a requisition duly accepted by the Governor of Ohio.
He not only refused to honor the requisition, but he released the fugitive. His excuse was that he feared the negro would be lynched if sent back to Kentucky, and he took occasion to deliver a moral lecture to Kentucky every time the matter was up before him. The crime for which the negro was wanted was for sneaking up behind a white merchant and shooting him in the head. The prevention was that the negro had owed the man a bill for a long time and the man had asked him for it. After walking away and stopping to talk to another man the negro stole up from behind and shot him.

It is no wonder that a good class of immigration does not flow into our rich fields, when our people are the particular objects of such persecutions. The business men of Ohio, and especially of Cincinnati and southern Ohio, depend upon Kentucky for a great deal of patronage. Are they indorsing all this vituperation, or are they simply sitting motionless and allowing it to go on without a protest? Their relations with the people of this State are close enough for them to know that there is no truth in these reports.
They therefore cannot hold themselves blameless, even if they are not indorsing the work. Then should our people continue to patronize and enrich them, when they are a party to this base persecution which is injuring us and retarding our development more than everything else combined? We realize that they have advantages over other points geographically, but it is not impossible to overcome these, in a great measure.

A Useful Card.

One of the Missourians at the Capitol has a card, on one side of which is printed his name and address and on the other these words:

"I HAVE TROUBLES OF MY OWN.
DON'T MENTION YOURS."

The other day Senator Voorhees and the owner of the card were seated together in a cable car. The Indiana Senator, in the course of the conversation, suddenly turned on the Missourian, who of course, is a Democrat, and began to arraign him severely for the way in which that great State had treated the Democratic party in the late election. The Missourian listened patiently to the Senator's outburst for sometime, and then slowly went down into his pocket and fished out the card, which he handed to his neighbor.

"What's this?" asked the Senator, holding it to the light of the car window. "I have troubles of my own. Don't mention yours." The spirit of the joke suddenly dawned on the Indiana statesman, and, throwing back his head, he laughed hilariously. When he handed the card back to its owner he expressed a wish to get one like it, because, he said, it exactly covered the situation and he had much need of a similar device to shut off debate.—Philadelphia Record.

The Owensboro Messenger puts some pertinent questions to the Kentucky Republicans: "When did the Republican party in this State ever address itself seriously to State affairs? What scheme of reform did it ever propose? Who among the Republican office-holders in Kentucky has rendered distinguished service? The Republican members of Congress have never risen above the level of pension claim agents. Not one of these has acquired a national reputation.
The Republican Circuit Judges have mostly distinguished themselves by permitting outrageous injustice in their districts, witness claim frauds, etc. The highest ambition of the party in Kentucky seems for twenty-five years to have been to get the Federal offices, and in doing this its members have squabbled and quarreled over the spoils so disgracefully as to drive many respectable men out of their congresses. The independent voters in Kentucky may not exactly fancify the record of the Democratic party, but what promise, in good faith, is held out to them by the Republican party?"

An Impudent Judge.
By what right does a Judge in Ohio thus sit in judgement upon another State? It is certainly to be supposed that in every State the authorities intend that the law shall be enforced; and if a mob overrides authority it is not, as a rule, an account of the State not intending to do its duty. How can a State guarantee at any time that there will not be a mob? Can the State of Ohio do it?—N. Y.

Postmaster General: "Stop all appointments in this district, until I can see you. I am elected." It is an Ohio Judge who says to the United States Constitution: "Come off the perch. I am on the bench."
—Courier Journal.

Rev. Hicks says: "Storms of rains and snow will visit many sections on Jan. 9, 10 and 11. These storms will be followed by a cold wave, rain and wind storms will occur on Jan. 19, 20 and 21 and Jan. 23 and 24. Then will occur another period of cold, which will be followed by rain and warmer weather during the closing hours of the month.

The results of the planting last year showed that much defective tobacco seed was sent into this section. Mr. E. H. White, of this place, has grown a superior quality and is putting them up for sale, as will be seen by his advertisement in these columns. The cost is trifling. It is better to pay a small sum for good seed than to get a poor quality free.

Rev. Robinson, of Paintsville, stopped off in Louisville Monday to spend a day with friends. He missed the train Tuesday morning and was compelled to stay over till Wednesday morning. He preached at the South Methodist Church Tuesday evening to a large congregation. He was on his way to Maysville to assist his brother in a protracted meeting. The people of this place were glad to see him.

The Hon. Thomas H. Paynter last Saturday tendered to Gov.
Brown his resignation as Congressman from the Ninth district and on Monday took his seat on the Appellate bench. In view of the short time a successor to the vacancy would have to serve and the expense involved, Gov. Brown will not call an election to fill out Mr.
Paynter's unexpired term.

Upon his retirement from the office of City Marshal Mr. Copley made a settlement with the clerk, Mr. Jones. Everything was found to be correct in his accounts, all money from taxes and other sources having been promptly turned in. The settlement showed the city still indebted to Mr. Copley to the extent of about $97. His resignation was entirely voluntary.

A remarkable case of regular and steady service is that of an old colored woman of this place. Her name is Johanna Johns. She has done the washing for Judge John M. Rie's family for twenty-six years, without missing a single week, and is still keeping it up, though she is about 85 years old.
This work has been performed on Monday of each week during that long period with but four exceptions when she did it on Tuesday. She has kept house for herself and raised a considerable family, but Mrs.
Rie's wash-day has always found her there, rain or shine; and though at such an advanced age she now puts in almost every day in the week at washing, having steady engagements with some of our best families. She is a very polite and trustworthy old woman and the white people all show her a certain reverence by addressing her as "Aunt Johanna."

Entertainment.

January 25th has been decided upon as the date for an entertainment to be given under the supervision of the South Methodist choir. Instrumental and vocal music will form a large part of the program and important parts will be taken by some persons from Huntington and Catlettsburg.
Something other than music will also be on the program. No efforts will be spared to make it an entertaining affair.

The New Reigmo.

William Woods is County Judge, Ransom Chaffin is Jailor, and Jas.
Shannon is Sheriff. These men are true blue Democrats, and we may reasonably expect an administration characterized by "honesty, economy and reform." The Democrats who have just gone into the shade of private life have done faithfully and well, and we welcome their successors as officers who will not falter in the discharge of any known duty.

Sheriff Shannon has a good lot of assistants, as these names will testify: John Vaughan, Flom Webb, W. M. Stone, David Moore, James Preston and Bud Daniels. These men are well and favorably known in Lawrence county, and from them and their chief the people have a right to expect a prompt and efficient execution of the law.

New Marshal.

W. A. Copley resigned the City Marshalship last Tuesday evening and the Council promptly elected James Vinson, the ex-Jailor, to the position. It is a splendid selection.
Mr. Vinson will make a most efficient officer. The boys would better walk straight.

Teacher's Pay Day

Tomorrow is the date for the January payment of school teachers. It is probable that only one-half of the amount will be in the hands of the Superintendent for payment, owing to the delinquency in the school fund.

The Circuit Court.

Promptly at 11 a.m. Monday Judge Kinner hit his desk in the Court House a half dozen taps, ordered the Sheriff to "open court," and the mill of justice began its grind.
Prosecuting Attorney Redwine sat behind his accustomed table, thanked by County Attorney Burns.
Sheriff Shannon called the following as grand jurors, and they were duly sworn: A. H. Queen, Westley Moore, John Ramey, Felix Wellman, Jerry Lambert, Thomas Kise, Alfred Shepherd, James Brooks, Dick Lyons, Scott Trubb, Van Wellman and Clifton Deas.

They were charged as to their duties, and for the balance of the week will inquire into and present misdemeanors, felonies and such.

The numerous Magistrates, Constables and others who receive public money made their reports, and then the following petit jurors answered to their names: Ruben Berry, William Justice, Abram Fergusson, Amos Caudill, C. C. Hays, Elphias Boggs, Dock Miller, M. F.
Carter, Charles Roberts, A. M. C.
Horton, John Wallace, William Church, Harvey Jordan, James (Slusher) Carter, Samuel Horton, John Alley, J. C. Moore, Robert Juggles, John Friend, G. H. Heberer, Isaac Belcher, William Savage, Jas. K. Rice and Jesse Hearnard.
Twelve of these gentlemen took seats in the jury box, and the grist began to van from the hopper. The first day's docket was finished before four p. m., and the "house of equity and justice" was left to the various clerks and the Big 12.

Green and Milton Fitch were acquitted of the charge of robbing Alex. Konyann. Chas. Itaker, a 12 year old boy charged with taking some money from the C. & O. railroad office at Peach Orchard, was also acquitted.

Two important cases came up today, that of George Stuel for breaking into store on Cain's creek, and that of Wm. Albright, aged about 80 years, for a very serious crime.

Only seven indictments have been returned by the grand jury up to date.

An unusually large number of acquittals have been made this court.

The criminal docket is all completed except the docket for to-day.

PAINTSVILLE.

The Graded Free School opened

Little Polena Arnett, the daughter of John and Sarah Arnett, whose sickness we mentioned some time ago, departed this life last Wednesday. The funeral services were conducted at Mr. Arnett's house on Thursday by Rev. E. Robinson.
She was buried in the town cemtery on the hill. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of the entire community. Among the many friends who attended her funeral were: J. H. Cooper, D. J. Wheeler, Lee Arnett and James Arnett, of Salyersville, who are uncles of the little girl.

It is reported that Pike county is to have salt works before long.
It would cause a great saving to the people of that section, as the freight is so heavy for the long distance it must be transported that the price of salt is always very high up there.

Mrs. Ferrell, of our town, we learn is preparing to take a trip across the water in the early spring.
She will go direct to Liverpool from New York, will spend some time in London, will visit Scotland, France and other countries. She will be gone about two years.—Pikeville

Mr. Taylor Vinson, of Huntington, who has been in bad health for quite a while, is now much improved and will soon be able to attend to business again. His friends here will be glad to hear it.

So do many of them. The Hazel Green Herald says: "James T.
Oldfield, who, when a young man, went West to grow up with the country," has returned with his grown-up Western family to Morgan county. He will probably settle on the farm of his old Kentucky home."

Bill Hall, sent up from Floyd county two years ago on the charge of murder, was arrested at Frankfort a few days ago by the ex-sheriff of Letcher county just as he was released from the penitentiary. Hall was formerly Sheriff of Letcher county himself, and while holding the office is said to have murdered a brother of the man who arrested him.

Nothing has been heard from the Pike county oil fields recently.
If Pike shall prove to be a paying oil field, that will almost complete the list of valuable underground deposits as she is already known to possess the finest coking, canal and bituminous coal, rich iron ore, fire clay, salt veins, &c. Pike is wonderfully blessed in natural resources, but is sadly in need of a railroad to develop them.

John C. Mayo, of Paintsville, Ky., with Messrs. Davis of Tennessee, and Gould and Richardson, of Chicago, Ill., have returned from a trip of several weeks up the Big Sandy Valley, where it is said the largest deal in Big Sandy coal lands in the history of the valley is on foot.
The amount in question will reach nearly three million dollars, and if the deal is closed it will insure the much talked of Big Sandy railroad.

A special from Huntington, W.
Va., to the Courier Journal says:

"In the early part of December last an old man who resides near Ironton, named Sanford, was visited by midnight burglars and made give up almost $2,000 at the point of a revolver. Four men were in the gang, and three men were arrested here and taken to the Ironton jail, where they have been since. Tonight one of them, June Hosier, confessed to the crime, and implicated the others and a fourth, whom Lawrence county officials are after in this state now, and also explained how the gang had robbed a dozen postoffices and stores south of this city and broke open cans on the Chesapeake & Ohio road. The confession tells where the goods are planted in the mountains. Numerous innocent men have been arrested for the crimes that this gang has been guilty of."

It has often been said that poorly baked bread Will bring on dyspepsia's ills; Will make families sad that were wont to be glad,
And swell up the good doctor's bills.
Over all the world wide bad bread is allied With evils that shorten life's hour;
But the man that is sage lives to an old age By eating of Golden Rod Flour

There are some who take all the trouble to bake, And risk that the bread will be good;
With so much to annoy, they never enjoy This life as they otherwise would.
The housewife is "mad" if the baking is sad,
And waits for her "hubby" with dread; There's pleasure in life for the sensible wife Who uses Golden Rod Flour for her bread.
